

KENNEDY GREETES IKE

Sen. John F. Kennedy (D-Mass.) (left), who spoke earlier, greets President Eisenhower on his arrival for festivities at the National Corn Picking Contest near Cedar Rapids, Ia.

Ike Says Peace Task Tops All Other Issues

Cedar Rapids, Iowa (AP)—President Eisenhower said Friday the overriding task of his last two years in office will be to work for a just and lasting peace — "If the Lord spares me that long."

Addressing a crowd police-estimated at 85,000 to 100,000 at the National Corn Picking Contest, Eisenhower said this task "overshadows everything we do in America."

A constant theme of U.S. foreign policy under his direction must be "a firm refusal to countenance Communist territorial expansion by force," the president added.

In an apparent reference to the Chinese Nationalist islands of Quemoy and Matsu, and the controversy over whether the United States should defend them, Eisenhower said:

"We must understand that we are trying to defend today not merely territory... once you retreat from principles you cannot turn around again and face your enemy."

Driven Out

The President's remarks came just after a speech by Democratic Sen. John F. Kennedy of Massachusetts, who declared administration policies have driven 4 million persons from farms.

Eisenhower disclaimed any direct politics in his own speech, though it obviously was intended to boost mid-western Republican prospects in the Nov. 4 election.

"I will say this much," the President quipped. "If on this coast-to-coast trip I can get the ratio of my side against the other to be as good from my standpoint as your corn-hog ratio is from yours, then I will count it a most successful effort."

The President then lauded the production of food on the nation's farms for America and for fast-expanding overseas markets. Eisenhower said the American farmer is "one of our strongest fighters in the cause of peace."

Drops In

In glorious Indian summer weather, Eisenhower dropped in on the cornpicking contest by helicopter after flying 805 miles from Washington to the Cedar Rapids airport with Mrs. Eisenhower in the presidential plane Columbine III.

They left shortly after the address for an overnight stay in Eisenhower's boyhood home, Abilene, Kans. The President also plans major political speeches in Los Angeles, San Francisco and Chicago before returning to the White House next Wednesday.

Kennedy had barely finished speaking when the President's 'copter dropped out of sky alongside—appropriately enough—a cornfield. The crowd gave Eisenhower a far greater ovation than it gave the senator.

The President shook hands with Kennedy when they met briefly, and said with a smile, "Senator, you're a long way from home."

Kennedy in his speech proposed a kind of script for the President that Eisenhower didn't follow.

"Perhaps," the senator said, "he will tell us how he reconciles previous campaign speeches about full parity with his failure to stop the slide in farm income, with his veto of a better parity bill in 1956, with his veto of the price support freeze bill in 1958—a veto that cost our farmers an estimated 800 million dollars a year in crop income.

"Perhaps the President will tell us that Mr. Benson is the most remarkable secretary of agriculture in our history—and there we might agree with him. For Mr. Benson has spent more of the taxpayer's money than any previous secretary of agriculture—he has acquired more surpluses—he has cost the farmers more income despite rising food prices..."

TRUMAN SAYS IKE STARTED SQUABBLE

... 'Put Foreign Policy In Politics'

Washington (AP)—Scrappy Harry S. Truman said Friday it was President Eisenhower and the Republicans who started the political campaign squabble over foreign policy.

"The Republicans put foreign policy into the political scramble and now they're sorry for it," Truman said.

The former President told reporters he is glad that after several years of White House experience Eisenhower "agrees with me" that international relations ought not to be a campaign issue.

"But he's the one who started it," Truman said.

"In 1952 the statement was made that the Korean War was my war and that it would be settled after the campaign. A trip was made to Korea and a settlement was made that I could have made on the same terms 3 years before. I call it the Korean surrender."

Trip to Korea

This was a reference to Eisenhower's trip to Korea after his 1952 victory and the subsequent armistice.

Truman declined in advance of a scheduled news conference Saturday to comment on Eisenhower's advice to Vice President Richard Nixon and other Republican campaigners to retaliate against criticism of administration actions in the Quemoy-Matsu crisis.

There have been a number of seemingly contradictory statements this week from Eisenhower, Nixon and Secretary of State Dulles about the propriety of discussing foreign policy in the current campaign for control of Congress.

Arriving here for a two-day visit in the midst of his campaigning for the Democrats, the former President bounced about from one party affair to another. He told a luncheon rally honoring Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt and Mrs. Truman that it is up to the Democrats "to see that we have the leadership that is needed in the world today."

Chiang Action On Quemoy Is Sought

Washington (AP)—Secretary of State Dulles will confer on Formosa next week with Chiang Kai-shek and presumably urge a reduction of Nationalist forces on the coastal islands.

Dulles left Washington late Friday for a far ranging jet flight that will take him first to Rome and then on to Taipei, Formosa.

High officials said Dulles, in going to see Chiang, hopes to strengthen U.S.-Nationalist relations and block Red Chinese moves to drive a wedge between the two governments.

This official line, however, did not exclude the prospect of a full discussion of the size of Chiang's forces on Quemoy, Matsu and other coastal islands. Both Dulles and President Eisenhower have said they think Chiang has concentrated too many troops in those outposts.

Officials cautioned newsmen against speculating that Dulles would put heavy pressure on Chiang to reduce his forces or withdraw from the islands entirely. They denied he had any such intention.

Not Coerce

This was in line with statements made earlier in the week by Dulles and Eisenhower that the United States will not coerce Chiang to weaken his defenses.

At a news conference Tuesday, Dulles said the Chinese Communists, in imposing a cease-fire in the Formosa Strait, were trying to drive a wedge between Nationalist China and the United States.

Officials said that in order to block any such maneuver it was important to have a complete top level understanding between U.S. and Nationalist leaders and to reassure Chiang of continued U.S. support.

Dulles left Washington for Rome where he will attend ceremonies marking the death of Pope Pius XII.

Dulles declined to discuss his Formosa trip at the airport.

Flying Direct

Asst. Secretary of State Walter S. Robertson, in charge of Far Eastern affairs under Dulles, also arranged to fly to Formosa, going direct from Washington.

Ambassador George C. Yeh, Chiang's new envoy to Washington and until recently his foreign minister, also plans to go to Formosa to participate in the talks.

Tokyo-Miami Flier Forced Down At Cordova, Alaska

Seattle (AP)—Distance flyer Charles F. Banfe Jr.'s attempt for a record-breaking, non-stop flight from Tokyo to Miami ended in failure at the nearly fogged-in airport at Cordova, Alaska, Friday night.

Banfe put his Mooney Mark 20A down minutes before 7 p.m. PST (9 p.m. CST) as clouds and fog cut visibility at Cordova to less than 200 feet. The small craft's motor sounded like a threshing machine.

Banfe's projected record flight ended approximately 3,270 statute miles from Tokyo. Had he made it to Miami by Saturday evening as he planned, he would have logged 7,022 miles without touching ground.

Banfe, the 39-year-old father of 4 children, was attempting to crack the non-stop, single-engine mileage record set by Marion (Pat) Boling last Aug. 1.

Larger Plane

Boling flew a slightly larger plane nonstop from Manila to Pendleton, Ore., a distance of 6,979 miles.

4:01 p.m. (CST) Thursday, had estimated it would take him 52 hours to reach Miami. When he left Tokyo he was carrying 343 gallons of gas.

Banfe checked in over Shemya, in the Aleutian Islands, at 7:20 a.m. (PST) Friday morning. He reported at the time that his engine had been running rough but had resumed functioning normally.

Later in the day, over Cold Bay, Alaska, at 2 p.m. (PST), Banfe reported the engine again was acting up and that he might have to terminate his flight at Anchorage.

Carpenter, a native Omahan, was described in the coronation script: "Your Board of Governors, mindful of their obligation... have sought for one to govern

President of Carpenter Paper Co., the new king points with pride to his recent service as assistant secretary of state with this country's Department of State. He was sworn into that office by Secretary John Foster Dulles in June, 1954.

Miss Swanson has attended Stanford University at Palo Alto, Calif., for 3 years, majoring in art and political science. She is a 21 year old, 5-foot, 8-inch tall blonde.

The queen's father was president of C. A. Swanson and Sons in 1955 when the company merged with Campbell Soup. He served Campbell as vice president and director for a year, and is now consultant and director.

Permit Asked For 100-Unit Motel

Suburban Living Inc., of Wichita, Kan., has requested a special use permit for a 100-unit motel and restaurant at 5240 Cornhusker Highway.

The City Planning Commission will consider the application on Nov. 12.

Proposed site is a 300-by-800-foot tract fronting on the north side of the highway, extending north to Havelock Ave.

Dale Fair Jr. of Wichita said no costs estimates were available at this time, but that the motel's construction, if approved, would begin in early 1959.

Plot plans for development, filed with the permit application, shows 100 rental units, a 50 by 140-foot commercial building, swimming pool, and parking for 136 cars.

Suburban Living presently owns a large motel at Wichita, which is operated in association with a nationally-known motel group.

Local sources valued the proposed Lincoln development at approximately $500,000.

City Planning Engineer Douglas Brogren said the proposed site is already zoned, but a special use permit is required for the motel.

Polk Child Dies Under Dad's Truck

Lincoln Star Special

Polk, Neb.—Tragedy struck at the Gerald Holm farm, northeast of Polk, Friday afternoon when the Holms' two-year-old daughter, Beverly Jean, met death under the wheels of her father's farm truck.

The child was riding her tricycle in the backyard of the Holm farmyard at the time of the mishap. Investigating authorities said the tot was killed when her father backing his truck accidentally ran over her.

The youngster was rushed to an Osceola hospital, but was dead upon arrival.

Present Speed Laws OK, Nebraskans Say

Despite an increase in traffic deaths noted since Nebraska speed limits were raised, most Nebraskans favor retaining the state's 65-55 mile per hour speed limit, a public opinion poll conducted by the Dana F. Cole Co. of Lincoln revealed Friday.

The results of the traffic safety poll were announced by Leo J. Beck Jr., president of the Nebraska Assn. of Insurance Agents.

The attitude of favoring the higher speed limit still prevails, Beck said, despite the increased traffic death rate in Nebraska so far in 1958. Neighboring states are recording a decrease in deaths

Man Dies In Bomb Blast

Carried Charge From Plane

Wichita, Kan. (AP)—A crude dynamite bomb exploded in the municipal air terminal Friday, killing a man who had brought it with him on an air liner from Kansas City.

The man, Don McCuiston, 36, of Tulsa, Okla., had carried the bomb to a small airway just outside the main lobby. No one else was injured, although large plate glass windows were shattered throughout the building.

Police Chief Eugene Pond said two persons on the flight from Kansas City saw McCuiston carry the package and a brief case off the plane.

Brown Package

First reports were that McCuiston, an unemployed aircraft worker who had just arrived on a flight from Kansas City, had approached a clerk in the terminal and reported he had found the brown paper package containing the bomb in a telephone booth.

Only moments later, as he walked into the airway with the package, the bomb exploded. McCuiston died instantly but some 50 persons in the terminal lobby were uninjured.

Asked For Change

Mrs. Joan Embree, a clerk at a car rental agency, was first quoted by reporters as saying McCuiston came to her booth and asked for change to use a pay telephone. These reports said he returned and reported finding the bomb package in a telephone booth. Then, when he walked into the airway, the bomb exploded, shattered plate glass windows throughout the building.

Later, Mrs. Embree, who had been in seclusion because of shock, told the associated press the man did not say anything about having found the bomb.

"He came to my booth and asked for change," said Mrs. Embree. "He was carrying a brief case. Soon he returned and placed the brief case and a brown package on top of it on the counter. He asked for the lost and found department."

"After he walked away, I heard the explosion and ran out to look," she said. "I saw the body and said 'that is the man who was at the counter just a moment ago. That must have been a bomb.'"

At Tulsa, McCuiston's father was quoted as telling a neighbor his son was losing his eyesight, had heart trouble and was upset over his employment.

Federal court records in Oklahoma City showed McCuiston was convicted June 24 on 4 counts of income tax evasion and placed on 3 years probation.

Police Chief Pond said the briefcase found near the body contained papers belonging to McCuiston and a .32-caliber automatic pistol.

3 Hospitals Accredited In Lincoln

Officials of 3 Lincoln hospitals, Bryan Memorial, Lincoln General and St. Elizabeth's, have received word of the accreditation of their hospitals for the next 3 years.

The accreditation comes from the Joint Commission on Accreditation of Hospitals in Chicago. Inspectors were sent to Lincoln in August to inspect the hospitals and make recommendations.

Bryan Memorial's notification of its approval included a recommendation to expedite its expansion and modernization program, scheduled to get under way next summer.

Dr. Kenneth B. Babcock, director of the Joint Commission, recommended that Lincoln General consider adding space in the form of clinical laboratories and X-ray and operating rooms.

St. Elizabeth's was recommended for "maintaining standards deserving of accreditation and for constant effort to improve the quality of patient care."

Officials of Providence Hospital said that the Joint Commission's report on accreditation for that hospital has not yet been completed.

The standards of a hospital set up by the Joint Commission are aimed at high medical practice in the best interest of patient care provided to a community.

Member organizations of the commission are the American College of Physicians, the American College of Surgeons, the American Hospital Assn., the American Medical Assn., and the Canadian Medical Assn.

Police Nab Meter Money Snatchers

Two Lincoln men, 20 and 22, are being held for questioning by Lincoln police, after they were arrested on Q between 12th and 13th Friday night with $17.79 in coins in their possession.

Police said the coins, mostly nickels and pennies, were believed taken from University type parking meters located in the west part of the Lincoln business district.

One of the men had $7.09 when arrested, police said. The rest of the money, tied in a white sock, was recovered from under the seat of their old model car.

Police said the men apparently entered the meters with a home-made key, which was also recovered.

Callan Favors Spending Cuts

Democratic Congressional candidate Clair Callan of Odell said Friday both Congress and the administration must share responsibility for "big government spending."

Callan said his first district opponent, Rep. Phil Weaves, has placed the blame on Congress.

"The Republican party 'isn't the only organization concerned with big government and big government spending,'" Callan declared in a statement.

"I also favor sound fiscal policies and believe that there are many areas in which taxpayer dollars can be saved."

United Campaign Tops Halfway Point

It was announced Friday at the 5th report luncheon for the United Community Chest and Red Cross Campaigns that the fund-raising drive has now gone over the half-way mark.

The total to date now stands at $354,603, or 59% of the $598,602 goal.

The Public Departments division turned in the lowest report for the day, and as a penalty, division General Fred Herrington and his two lieutenants were transported to 13th and O, via "Paddy-wagon," to shine shoes to "make up their deficit."

The Reports

The 4 employee divisions reported the following amounts:

Industrial and Automotive, Lee Berkheimer, chairman: $13,480, for a total to date of $39,324 or 60% of a goal of $65,500.

Business and Professional, Charles Thorne, chairman: $3,940, for a total to date of $38,016, or 52% of a goal of $73,550.

'FIXATION ON SPACE DANGEROUS'

... NU Lecturer

A Yale university botanist and conservationist warned Friday night that "our present self-hypnotism with outer space may divert treasure, brains and effort from something far and away more serious and immediate — the space in which we live."

Dr. Paul Sears prepared the remarks for delivery at the annual University of Nebraska Avery lecture.

"On our handling of this terrestrial space depends our future welfare and the kind of world in which those who come after us will live," he suggested. "So long as we have urgent business where we live, I should like to see some reasonable priority in our use of wealth and talent."

Whether the United States can preserve its freedom and its world leadership "rests upon how well we manage some three million square miles and the growing millions who live here," he declared.

SPEED LAWS GET APPROVAL

for the same period, however, Beck noted.

On the other hand, the survey indicated that Nebraskans appear to favor lower speed limits on secondary roads than on paved or oiled highways and stronger controls over drivers.

These controls include:

1. Re-examination of drivers' licenses.
2. A larger state Safety Patrol.
3. Periodic examination of motor vehicles.
4. Subsidized driver education.

The Cole Co. said it tabulated 6,125 questionnaires.

Some of the results:

Only 25% favored reducing maximum speed limits to 60 mph daytime, 50 at night.

Sixty-three % favored 10 mile lower speed limits for buses and trucks than for passenger automobiles.

County Roads

Seventy-nine % favored lower speed limits on secondary roads than on paved or oiled highways.

Seventy-two % believe that Patrol strength should be increased, and 77% endorsed 194 as minimum Patrol strength.

Sixty-six % favored requiring re-examination for drivers' licenses every 4 years. But only 42% favored requiring any new licensee to have completed a driver training course.

Inspection Favored

Seventy-four % favored compulsory inspection of motor vehicles for mechanical fitness, and of those favoring this step, most felt the inspections should be made yearly.

Seventy-four % favored legislation requiring high schools to offer driver education courses, and 56% favored some source of additional revenue to help schools pay for such courses.

Beck said the insurance association, an organization of independent and property casualty agents, will sponsor legislation at the 1959 session of the Legislature based on results of the survey.

Labor Asks Definitions In New Bill

... Secondary Boycott

Nebraska AFL-CIO President Gordon Preble of Omaha Friday urged the Legislative Study Committee on Secondary Boycotts to "clearly define" in its proposed labor legislation "what constitutes an unfair labor practice on the part of an employer and an employee."

Preble also suggested that the committee study Minnesota laws covering unfair labor practices, particularly secondary boycott practices, before making its final recommendation to the Legislative Council in November.

The Nebraska labor chief told committee members that his group intends to sponsor legislation in the 1959 session which would allow employees of public power utilities to hold union elections.

Omaha attorney David D. Weinberg, representing the Teamsters Joint Council 81 of Nebraska, told the committee that wherever statutes have been passed outlawing secondary boycotts, "they have been declared unconstitutional by the courts."

Weinberg said that "90% of the testimony presented before the committee has concerned interstate commerce, over which the committee has no jurisdiction, and primary boycotts."

Two Lincoln dentists will be among 4 official representatives of the Nebraska State Dental Association to the 99th annual session of the American Dental Association at Dallas Nov. 10 to 13.

Drs. Wallace W. Lamphere and Norman C. Carlson of Lincoln, Dr. Charles E. Baker of David City and Dr. Anthony R. Sofio of Omaha will serve as members of the ADA house of delegates, the policy-making body of the organization, and will be heading the Nebraska delegation.

Seventh-Day Adventists Set Temperance Drive

Members of the Lincoln Seventh-Day Adventist churches will be urged Saturday to participate in a 10-point year-round temperance program, according to M. W. Deming and W. H. Elder, pastors of the Lincoln churches.

The program, they said, "is not simply a shake of the head when invited to partake of alcoholic beverages. It is a positive, action program."

The ministers listed the 10 points of the program as follows:

1. Turn down every invitation to drink or to smoke with a polite "No, thank you."
2. Patronize and commend managers of all food stores, drugstores and restaurants who do not permit the sale of alcoholic beverages in their establishments.
3. Commend newspapers and magazines who refuse to advertise alcoholic beverages.
4. Become informed through reading as to the effects of tobacco and alcohol on the physical, mental and moral powers of the individual, as well as the social, economic, political and religious life of the nation.
5. Distribute temperance literature.
6. Place temperance bumper strip on your car, publicizing the traffic safety program.
7. Place posters on temperance in schools and other places.
8. Arrange for showings of the temperance films "One in 20,000" and "Cancer by the Carton."
9. Express yourself freely but tactfully regarding the serving of alcoholic beverages on planes, and the advertising of alcoholic beverages.
10. Take part in every local option campaign having to do with the temperance issue.

For Seventh day Adventists, refraining from the use of tobacco or alcoholic beverages is a test of church fellowship, the ministers said.

OIL EXECUTIVE RATES STATE POTENTIAL HIGH

By Virgil Falloon

Nebraska's oil potential is rated "substantial" by the Ohio Oil Company president, but "only time can disclose the extent."

James C. Donnell of Findlay, O., whose company brought in this state's first gas well and first western oil well, also said the "entire state is prospective" during a visit Friday in Lincoln.

Nebraska Ranks 13th

While Nebraska's 50,000 barrels a day is only a minute portion of the national production, Donnell said "every drop counts" in the highly-competitive industry.

Donnell pointed out that of the 29 producing states today, Nebraska has climbed from 21st to 13th in the past 10 years.

Approximately 20% of the state is under oil and gas leases and nearly 5,000 wells have been drilled thus far.

Doane Address Today

Donnell believes this is indicative of the continued interest of oil producers in the state.

Ohio Oil, one of the nation's top 15 oil companies is producing oil in 15 states and is exploring in Africa and Alaska.

Donnell, who started as a geologist, has headed the company for the past 10 years.

Liberal Education Needed

On Saturday, he addresses a Doane College convocation at Crete on "Liberal Arts In An Age of Specialization."

On this subject, Donnell says he believes liberal arts training can fill a definite need in business and industry.

Dear Reader:

The opening of Marilyn Manor on October 11 and 12 proved to be a successful and very gratifying event to all those connected with it. We were particularly pleased that so many people indicated so much interest in our property and took the time to stop and discuss it with us.

Woods Brothers has been in the business of real estate development for over sixty years and has planned and re-platted over fifty additions to the city of Lincoln. We believe that Marilyn Manor is a distinguished addition to this tradition and affords the maximum to those people interested in modern, luxury living at moderate prices.

Marilynn Manor is located strategically for easy access to public schools, public transportation, churches and arterial streets. It further distinguishes itself by offering a hilltop location with large, rolling lots particularly suited to walkout basements and split-level homes.

We would be happy to discuss with you either on location or in the office any terms or details you may have in mind. It is our preference to make terms for closing in 1959.

3 Involved In 19 Burglaries Given Pen Terms

By Del Harding
Three ex-convicts involved in 19 recent Lincoln area burglaries received prison sentences Friday in Lancaster District Court.

Richard F. Stieber, 30, of 328 So. 52nd, and Henry Reichel, 35, of 1207 Charleston, were each sentenced to 7-year State Penitentiary terms for the burglary of the Servall Market at 3308 A St. 24.

Troy Albert Maupin, 36, of the YMCA, received a 5-year Penitentiary term for participating in the Servall burglary. Maupin, however, reportedly did not accompany Stieber and Reichel on the other 18 burglaries.

Pleaded Guilty
All three had pleaded guilty previously before Judge Harry A. Spencer.

Reichel also was sentenced to a 3-year prison term for possession of burglary tools, to which he also had pleaded guilty. But Judge Spencer ordered the sentence to run concurrently with his 7-year term.

Judge Spencer did not give the maximum sentence to any of the 3 men. A burglary conviction carries a penalty of up to 10 years in the Penitentiary.

Admitted Others
Although the men were charged specifically only with the Servall Market burglary, they also admitted 6 burglaries and 2 burglary attempts in Lincoln and 10 burglaries in surrounding communities.

Reichel was released from the Penitentiary Sept. 3 after serving a bad check term. He also had been convicted twice of burglary before this offense.

Maupin was released from prison in July and Stieber in June, and both had two felony convictions before the latest episode.

LAFB Bomb Wing Gets Ninth Place

In individual crew competition, a 307th Bomb Wing crew, commanded by Maj. Jack A. Crook, finished 8th. Members of the crew, which competed with 156 other crews, were Maj. Crook, aircraft commander, Maj. Vernon L. Blaett, navigator, and 1st Lt. Harry E. Krebs, pilot.

Gas Co. Asks To Raise Interest On Bond Issue
Central Electric and Gas Co. has filed an application with the State Railway Commission seeking authority to issue and sell $1 million in bonds at 4% interest.

The new request is in lieu of an application made by the firm last spring to issue and sell $975,000 in bonds at 4% interest.

The company recently asked the Railway Commission to withdraw its original application and the request was granted.

Lee Berkheimer, executive assistant to the general manager of Central Electric and Gas, said the money would be used to make routine improvements.

Judge Defers Sentence In Car Prowling Case
John Jessup of Wichita, Kan., pleaded guilty Friday in Lancaster District Court to a charge of entering a motor vehicle with intent to steal property therefrom.

Judge Harry A. Spencer deferred sentencing pending investigation of the case by the Adult Probation Office. Jessup, 39, was charged with entering the car of a Lincoln man Oct. 14.

Mooring Basin Cleared As Boat Brings In Mine
Astoria, Ore. (AP)—The west end of the Astoria mooring basin was blocked off because a fishing boat came in with a huge, rusty mine.

The mine got into the nets of the drag boat Silver Queen in 55 fathoms of water off North Head at the mouth of the Columbia River.

Skipper Jack Stanovich said the mine was brought aboard to remove it from the nets. Once on deck he and crewmen Guy Laferriere and John Kalhede were afraid to drop it back overboard because the boat's winch slips and the mine might drop on deck.

As a precautionary measure, the Coast Guard ordered about a block-long area of the mooring basin cleared when the Silver Queen came in. Demolition experts are enroute.

6 Cities Allocated U.S. Pollution Control Funds

The State Water Pollution Control Council Friday allocated $493,787 in federal funds to aid in sewage treatment plant construction in 6 Nebraska communities.

Two projects were approved in Omaha, and one each was approved for Seward, Red Cloud, Clatonia, David City and Crete.

The council voted approval for the two Omaha projects after State Health Director Dr. E. A. Rogers termed them the "most important" in the state.

Priority System

The council traditionally gives priority for funds in the chronological order the State Department of Health.

On this basis it was determined there were not sufficient funds at this time for one of the two Omaha projects, but Sanitation Division Chief T. A. Filipi said he believed that would be additional amounts available from projects now in progress which may not require as much as was first believed.

With Friday's action, the Council emptied the coffers of funds for this fiscal year.

Concern was expressed by some Council members that Congress might not continue to supply funds for sewage treatment plant construction,

Demos Complain Of Sign Vandals
Reports of several Democratic campaign signs being torn down and demolished were made Friday.

Mrs. Emma Eagleton reported that a sign boosting Frank Morrison, Democratic candidate for U.S. Senator, was demolished at a filling station at 54th and O.

She said the sign would be put up again and "guarded if necessary."

A Calvert street resident reported two Democratic signs in her yard were destroyed as well as in the next-door neighbor.

At a Cheyenne street location, the resident said, a fire was deliberately set under a sign.

Guilty Plea Entered In Non-Support Case

Carl Moline of Steamboat Springs, Colo., was sentenced to one year in the Men's Reformatory Friday in Lancaster District Court on a non-support charge.

Moline, 38, had pleaded guilty before Judge Harry A. Spencer to failing to support his wife and 4-month-old son from July 1 to Sept. 1.

but State Game Commission Secretary Mel Steen said conservation interests would see to it that funds are appropriated.

Funds allocated to the Omaha projects are subject to the approval Nov. 4 by Omaha voters of a bond issue to provide matching funds for their projects.

Filipi told the Council that as soon as Ulysses has completed a contemplated treatment plant, the Blue River will be completely free of untreated sewage.

Projects approved Friday,

Jury Hung In Statutory Rape Case

The statutory rape trial of a 21-year-old Lincoln Air Force Base airman resulted in a hung jury Friday.

After more than 7½ hours of deliberation, the 8 women and 4 men jurors reported to Judge Harry A. Spencer that they were unable to agree on the innocence of James Karl Nennich. The trial started Tuesday.

Nennich was charged with having intimate relations with a 14-year-old Lincoln girl July 27 at Pioneer's Park.

Nennich, although admitting he went out with the girl several times, denied ever having intimate relations with her. Nennich is married and the father of a young daughter.

Nennich pleaded guilty to the charge in County Court, but changed his plea to innocent when the case reached District Court.

Judge Spencer ordered Nennich held for trial again later. Chief Dep. Co. Atty. Dale Fahrbruch said Nennich would be retried.

Judge Gives Pair Year's Probation

Two Lincoln men who had pleaded guilty to driving while their driver's licenses were suspended were each placed on one-year probation Friday by Lancaster District Judge Harry A. Spencer.

He also suspended the driving privileges of Larry Latham, 19, of 621 No. 21st, and Earl Gilliam, 26, of 4126 No. 73rd, for additional periods—Latham for two years and Gilliam for one year.

Judge Spencer ordered that Latham, who was charged with a second offense of driving on a suspended license, spend 45 days in the County Jail as a condition of his probation.

During the Council's morning session, a State Health Department scientists who has been testing Elkhorn River waters said Sandhills residents have a habit of using the river as a dump ground.

Allan Johnson, who specializes in the study of inland waters, said that residents customarily back trucks to the river bank and dump in tin cans, carcasses of dead animals and any other trash.

Johnson delivered to the Council a preliminary technical report of tests on water taken at 153 sampling points on the Elkhorn River and its tributaries during August and September.

Johnson said tests indicate Fremont to be a "flagrant" polluter of the stream.

VA Figures Space Needs For Planners

The Lincoln Veterans Administration Regional Office estimates its space needs at 26,000 to 27,000 sq. ft. if a new building is provided.

Manager A. H. Duxbury said this information has been forwarded to Washington for assistance in preparing architectural and building need specifications and plans.

The General Service Administration's regional office at Kansas City, charged with finding new Lincoln quarters for the VA office, requested these statistics by late October.

Also included in the needs is parking area for 148 employees, based on one space for each 3 workers.

GSA representatives, visiting Lincoln last month, indicated new construction on a lease basis for the VA office would be strongly explored.

A Shift Of Money

By WILLIAM O. DOBLER

Money, of course, carries with it a lot of fascination as a great part of our lives hinge upon it in one way or another. It should not be our dominant motivating force but its effects on everyone cannot be denied. Thus, what is happening to the dollar and how people are using it makes interesting reading.

University of Nebraska News this week carries an article on consumer expenditures in the U.S. by Dr. Edgar Z. Palmer of the College of Business Administration. The article contains a lot of food for thought. The story completely ruins the old theory that consumers are responsible for depressions by not spending freely. It is shown that during the early 1930's the worse period of U.S. economic history, people were actually spending more than they were earning as savings even reached a minus-zero mark.

Nor do the few preceding years show that savings were excessive. In 1929, total savings hit $3.7 billion, a figure not equaled again until 1940 and not surpassed until it jumped to $9.8 billion in 1941. During the prosperous World War II years, savings were at peak highs ranging from $25.6 billion to $35.4 billion.

But only once in the past 10 years have savings exceeded the $20 billion mark, despite the fact that disposable personal income, income after taxes, went from $189.3 billion in 1948 to a current total of $306.2 billion for 1958. The next question, then, is where all this increase in disposable income is going.

That question raises the most interesting point of Dr. Palmer's report. Since 1947, expenditures for services have gone up at the rate of almost 8 per cent per year. Expenditures for purchase of durable and non-durable goods, however, have gone up only about 4 per cent per year.

Thus, comparatively speaking, less is being spent today for food, clothing, housing, automobiles, etc. than was the case 10 years ago. Instead, more money is going into insurance, appliance repairs, medical treatment, beauty treatments, legal advice, etc. A number of conclusions can be drawn from this, even though they may be difficult to prove.

Dr. Palmer quotes one noted economist who prefers to believe that the switch to service consumption by the buying public is the sign of a mature economy. It shows that the people, on the average, have enough such things as cars, TV sets, furniture, etc.

There may be some truth in this but it might be a little too simple an answer. If we do not get maturity confused with stability, however, we will not be too far wrong. The growth of service industries can be attributed, in part at least, to the demands of consumers.

A lot of what we see today is nothing more than service. The big supermarkets are a good example of this. There is service in the form of huge varieties of products, fancy packaging, beautiful surroundings, pleasant displays and other attractions. The small grocer has been forced out of business as much by service as by price. While housewives complain of the price of food, they shop where the service is the best. Service, at least, figures along with price and quality of product in the choice of a retailer to patronize.

Demand For Service

The big question is how much expenditures for services contribute to the welfare of the economy as compared to expenditures for durable and nondurable goods. How many jobs are created with the purchase of a life insurance policy, for instance, as compared to the number of jobs lost when new car purchases decline? Services are growing in the U.S. but their place in our economy is still uncertain.

U.S. Athletes Will Woo Latin America

Washington — The State Department will send some big-name athletes to South America to build good will and overcome Vice President Nixon's ill-fated tour. They'll travel at the taxpayers' expense.

Not traveling at the taxpayers' expense will be the Harlem Globetrotters, touring in Havana November 29. They'll play in Haiti, the Dominican Republic, Puerto Rico; nine cities in Brazil, six games in Argentina; also cover Paraguay, Bolivia, Peru, Ecuador, Colombia, Venezuela, Panama, Costa Rica, Nicaragua, Honduras, Salvador, Guatemala and Mexico—all without a penny from the taxpayer.

Abe Saperstein's globetrotters have sometimes been called "American diplomats in short pants."

The exit of Sherman Adams from government now makes it possible to tell the story of two stenographers and the part they played in trying to block Richard M. Nixon from becoming vice president again in 1956.

One secretary is Mary Burns, assistant to Sherman Adams. The other secretary is Millie Coleman, assistant to Harold Stassen.

Most people didn't know it, but Sherman Adams played a quiet part in the efforts to block Nixon's renomination on the Eisenhower ticket in 1956. Stassen was out in front; Adams was working backstage. It was Adams who helped arrange for Stassen's meeting at Gettysburg when he got the green light from Ike on trying to round up Republican sentiment against Nixon.

Adams played his cards so carefully, however, that even some people inside the White House did not know that he was part of the Stassen movement. Reason he was able to get away with this secrecy was his efficient secretary, Mary Burns, and the fact that she was the roommate of Millie Coleman.

Sherman Adams, ex-governor of New Hampshire, and Harold Stassen, ex-governor of Minnesota, both staunch Republicans, both members of the White House could not be seen much together. They could not easily duck into each other's office. This was partly because Stassen occupied an office across the street from the White House in the old State, War and Navy building, while Adams was in the White House proper. Later, Stassen was moved to the State Department and communication with Adams became even more difficult.

But when Mary Burns, Adams' secretary, went home at night, she carried messages which she gave to her roommate, Millie Coleman, who in turn relayed them to Harold Stassen. This was how the stop-Nixon movement was carried on. This is how a friendship continued between two men who had much to do with putting Eisenhower in the White House but who are now on the outside looking in.

Nixon Playing Horatio Role

WASHINGTON — Vice-President Richard M. Nixon is now clearly embarked upon an effort to avert a Republican rout this fall by branding Democrats the war party and Republicans the party of peace.

It is not inconceivable that his strategy might be effective. The time is short. The long-run risks are great. He will be the slave of chance in the Formosa straits. He cannot be sure that Red China will continue the cease-fire which alone makes possible the Nixon effort to portray the Quemoy-Matsu situation as a victory.

But in connection with what Red China may do, it must be remembered that the vice-president and Secretary of State John Foster Dulles, also a deeply partisan politician, are closer than ham and eggs. Nixon talks to Dulles every day and telephones him night and morning on the Nixon travels.

The secretary knows what is being said in those negotiations on the Formosa Straits between the United States ambassador to Poland and the Red Chinese spokesmen. It can be assumed that Nixon knows, too, and feels the ground is firm beneath his feet. Dulles naturally prefers the Nixon position that the Dulles policy has worked and that Democratic critics are appeasers.

The vice-president is not a warm and instinctive politician who feels with people. But he has proved that he knows how to use scare tactics, and his reversion to them should surprise no one. Nor does it require any massive intuition to realize that the American people plainly don't want any part of war in the Formosa Straits. Their resentment of Marines in the Middle East and the involvement of the Air Force and Navy around Quemoy and Matsu has been widely noted. It is unquestionably a reason contributing heavily to the Democratic trend.

Confronted with gloomy reports of Republican chances everywhere except New York, Nixon decided to make the issue one of Republican peace against Democratic war. Whatever may be said of his course, the old Republican rank and file will like it.

They will like, too, his bold assumption of the leadership of the party. Here he is filling a vacuum President Eisenhower has hardly noticed. It has long been apparent that the organization looked to Nixon; it is the reason his nomination for president in 1960 appears inevitable.

But today that is a collateral issue only. The truth is that the President is not really going to care greatly about losing face in the party as such, provided Nixon makes it easier for him by treating him with extreme personal deference.

The Democrats, too, must brace themselves for the Nixon onslaught. Their natural spokesmen this time are Speaker Sam Rayburn and Senate Leader Lyndon B. Johnson, who gave the President winning majorities on foreign policy issues throughout the last Congress. Copyright, 1958, By U.F. Syndicate, Inc.

A THOUGHT FOR THE SABBATH

Stories Of Famous Hymns

No Parting There

We are going, we are going
To a home beyond the skies,
Where the fields are robed in beauty,
And the sunlight never dies.
Where the fount of life is flowing
In the valley, green and fair,
We shall dwell in love together,
There will be no parting there.

We are going, we are going
When the day of life is o'er,
To the pure and happy region
Where our friends have gone before,
They are singing with the angels
In that land so bright and fair,
We shall dwell with them forever,
There will be no parting there.

By HORACE B. POWELL

Everyone who loves hymns must at one time or another have sung some of Fanny Crosby's songs.

America's beloved blind hymnist became known throughout the world for her hymns. She died in 1915 at the grand old age of 95 but the thousands of hymns which she wrote and left for us are still blessing the lives of countless men and women every year.

Thinking now of her wonderful life and her glorious songs, one wishes that she might have begun her hymn-writing much sooner than she did. She was 44 when, in 1864, her first hymn poem was finished. It was the song, "No Parting There," which appears above and it was written at the suggestion of William Bradbury, the New York gospel song publisher, who later set her poem to music.

Miss Crosby had been writing bits of verse—and very creditable ones—for a good while before she and Mr. Bradbury met for the first time in New York, one day in 1860.

Small Complaint

Lincoln, Neb.

To the editor of The Lincoln Star: I am a Lincolnite who does not believe the town is falling apart. I am not out defending against the improvements that urban renewal would bring, nor hanging the city council in effigy for trying to fix the streets with an occupation tax.

I like it here.

I can't think of any big things to complain about. But I can think of one little thing—one more reason why the Republicans ought to be thrown out of office.

I like Postmaster General Summerfield's curb side mailing boxes well enough, but every time I drive up to one of them to mail a letter I get a shock that rattles my teeth, makes my knuckles fly in all directions. Four cent postage is nothing compared to this. I am beginning to wonder whether letter writing is worthwhile.

Could not some insulating material be put around the mouth of those boxes? Or am I an exception, made out of old storage batteries instead of bone and tissue?

The Rebuilding

Lincoln, Neb.

To the editor of The Lincoln Star: I was very much interested in what Drew Pearson wrote about how children and adults, also, are helping in building Clinton's school in Tennessee.

I would like very much to see colored citizens over the country contribute to the building of this school. Here is a small community trying to carry out the law, and it behooves colored as well as white people to help them rebuild. It would be a fine gesture on our part and might go a long way toward showing our good faith in the men and women who are working hard to help in integration.

Matching Funds

Lincoln, Neb.

To the editor of The Lincoln Star: And so now over a year after the passage of the sanitary sewer use fee ordinance by the City Council, we are told by the city editors that there will be no matching money from federal funds for this program. At that time we were told by the powers that be all about the oodles of matching money that would become available for supplementing sanitary sewer improvements. It now appears that not so much as a thin dime will be forthcoming for this purpose. It's all on the cuffs of the local taxpayers.

Obviously, if the wheels have neither the know-how nor the ability to secure matching money for such necessary work as sanitary sewers, how could anyone safely presume that they would have either the know-how or the ability to secure matching money for the proposed wheel tax?

LEO N. BARTUNEK

Editor's Note: We are not aware of any statements to the effect that federal matching funds would become available upon enactment of the sewer use fee. At most, it might have been mentioned as a possibility. Securing such funds, also, is not a question of ability at all, but rather, a question of law. Lincoln simply isn't doing those things—doesn't need them—for which federal matching funds are available.

Printing The News

Upland, Neb.

To the editor of The Lincoln Star: Newspapers are of value only when they print facts. Nothing else can be classified as news. And the facts are that Russia has been expanding like creeping paralysis and too many civilians like Pastor Geiswinkler from Shelton, whose letter appeared in this column on October 13, are to blame.

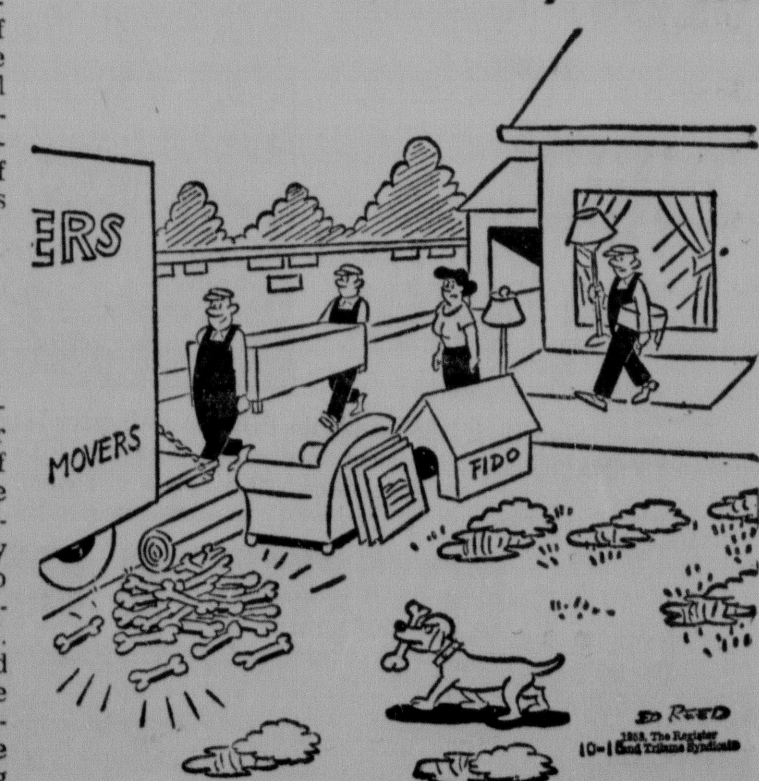

We stopped them in Korea but settlement was on Russia's terms, and 150,000 soldiers were turned loose to fight us again in Indochina where we promised to help our "ally," France, but the great general settled again on Russia's terms and gave them the territory they wanted, and again at Geneva. Russia has given no points, either major or minor, and it has not and cannot be denied. Now we have our backs to the wall and our friends are all on vacation. Our prestige is a dim memory.

Ike promised the farmer 100 per cent parity and then vetoed the 90 per cent parity law. Down among the lower ranks, that does not make him a man of his word.

Nixon Says Ike Entry In Campaign Will Give GOP Needed Boost

... Ag-Area Prospects 'Improve'

Cheyenne, Wyo. (AP)—Vice President Nixon predicted President Eisenhower's entry into the political campaign next week will give the GOP campaign "the shot in the arm it needs."

Nixon said he has found in a campaign swing through western states "increasing evidence that political pollsters who predict a decisive Democratic victory are in for the surprise of their lives Nov. 4."

"If we continue an all-out campaign between now and Nov. 4 we can turn what appeared to be almost certain defeat into one of the greatest victories in our party's history," Nixon told a Republican rally.

"Republican prospects in farm areas are greatly improved over 4 years ago with net farm income 22% higher than 1957 and gross farm income 5% higher than any year in history."

"More Jobs" Nixon said America's wage earners have "more jobs at higher wages with better working conditions than in any year of the new deal or the fair deal."

"Inflation has finally been checked and prices are leveling off. During the 7 years of the Truman administration prices went up 50%. During the 6 years of this administration, they have gone up only 8%," Nixon said.

"In terms of the wage earners ... the entire amount of wage increases received by workers during the 7 years of the Truman administration were eaten up by price increases in that period."

"On the other hand, wages have gone up 25% in this 6

Sec. Weeks Predicts U.S. To Set Production Record

Hot Springs, Va. (AP)—Secretary of Commerce Weeks predicted the country will pass the 450 billion dollar production rate before New Year's Day and will move on to set new production records in 1959.

Weeks gave reporters his appraisal after a lengthy closed conference with government economic officials and the nearly 100 top corporation heads who comprise the Commerce Department's Business Advisory Council.

Reporters were told that the great preponderance of the industrialists who took part in the round-robin discussion of business prospects held the view that the recovering economy will continue its upsurge at least for the next 6 months.

"I can tell you one thing—the boys are feeling a lot better than they did 6 months ago," Weeks grinned.

The secretary gave newsmen a briefing on the day's discussion, with help from T. V. Houser, chairman of the council's Economic Policy Committee. Houser is a director and former board chairman of Sears, Roebuck and Co.

Although neither Weeks nor Houser so informed reporters, it was learned that Houser's committee predicted that the nation's total production may reach a 480 billion dollars a year rate or more by next summer.

This compares with a rate of less than 426 billion dollars at the low point of the recession early this year and an unofficial estimate of 440 billion dollars in the July-September quarter.

Houser and Weeks said the industrialists expect a reasonable price stability for the next several months. The job of restraining inflation can be done, Weeks added, if industry, labor and government do a proper job.

Omaha (AP)—The Nebraska Synod of the United Presbyterian Church in the USA and the Nebraska Fellowship of Christian Churches Friday urged approval of a constitutional amendment to authorize a system of separate juvenile courts.

In a joint statement Dr. David L. Kratz, executive secretary of the Christian Church state organization, said: "Our Churches favor all procedures that will help our young people to responsible citizenship."

The state Presbyterian committee on social education and action said "juveniles in trouble with the law present special needs and consideration which existing courts are not equipped to deal with adequately."

Cozad Pair, Pierce Youth Die On Highways

Couple Found By Patrolman

By the Associated Press
A Cozad farmer and his wife, and a Pierce youth became the latest Nebraska highway fatalities, losing their lives in two separate crashes.

The dead:
Harold Headley, 60, Cozad.
Mrs. Zola Headley, 53, his wife.
Gene Zierke, 16, Pierce.

A State Safety Patrol officer who spotted a wrecked car with its lights still burning discovered the bodies of Mr. and Mrs. Headley, and their injured 12-year-old daughter, Mollie Rae, near Cozad Thursday night.

Capt. Harold D. Robinson, who found the car, said the accident apparently had not occurred too long before. The Headley car missed a turn on a country road 14 miles north of Cozad and plunged about 50 yards into a steep ravine.

Thomas Lynn Headley, the dead couple's son who had remained at home, said his parents had been en route to a neighbor's.

Meanwhile, Zierke, son of Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Zierke of Pierce, died Friday in a Norfolk hospital of injuries received in Pierce when he fell from a moving truck.

Zierke was one of 4 youths who were going after Halloween decorations for a Walter League party, Sheriff Elmer Kuhl said.

The sheriff said the youth was standing up and fell head first from the truck, suffering a fractured skull.

Another Mild Fall Day Forecast

Farmer Lost For 6 Days Returns Home

Creighton, Neb. (P)—A 53-year-old Creighton, Neb., farmer missing for 6 days returned home Friday after apparently having gone without food the entire time.

County Attorney Merritt Warren said it was "definitely a case of amnesia." The farmer, George Ehrenburg, drove into the yard of his farm home shortly after 8 a.m.

While he apparently had not eaten, Ehrenburg appeared to have had some water. Warren said the farmer was immediately hospitalized and appeared to be in "pretty bad shape."

Ehrenburg was dazed and did not know where he was, even when he arrived home, the county attorney said.

Ehrenburg last spring suffered from loss of memory and subsequently was found in Sioux City, Iowa.

His pickup truck appeared to have traveled about 300 miles this time, Warren said, but Ehrenburg could not remember where to.

VON GERTSCH

Monroe Man Wins National Championship

... As Corn Picker

Cedar Rapids, Ia. (P)—Von Gertsch of Monroe, Neb., and Warren Friason of Sioux Falls, S. D., won the championships Friday at the National corn picking contest here attended by President Eisenhower.

Gertsch, 26, took the two-row championship with 91.84 out of a possible 100 points. He won the Nebraska two-row top honors last week at Tekamah in his first contest try.

Friason scored 86.3 points for the one-row title.

Americanism Citation Given Hastings Man

Evolution Idea Can Increase Man's Stature, Says Dr. Sears

Lincoln Star Special
Crete, Neb. — Rightly understood, the idea of evolution increases—rather than diminishes—man's stature. Modern science gives him a better chance than he has ever had to understand the world of which he is a part and to predict the consequences of his own actions. For good or ill he is once again the responsible keeper of the garden where he lives.

This was the idea presented by Dr. Paul Sears, head of Yale University's conservation department as he gave the opening lecture of a two-day homecoming parent's day convocation at Doane College Friday afternoon.

Mutual Aid Stressed
Speaking on the subject "Charles Darwin: The Naturalist as a Cultural Force," the former University of Nebraska professor noted that both Darwin's friends and foes have been guilty of overlooking one important point. Impressed with the idea of the struggle of existence, an idea much older than Darwin, they have missed his emphasis on the importance of co-operation and mutual aid as a means of survival, Dr. Sears said.

He pointed out that Nebraskans have played a part in the drama begun 100 years ago with the publication of Darwin's book, "The Origin of Species by Natural Selection."

Dr. Sears said Charles Bessey brought microscopes across the river and began to teach evolution as the basic theme in his courses at University of Nebraska. His colleague, Edwin Barbour, was one of the great explorers of the rich fossil beds in Nebraska which have added so much to the evidence of past evolution, the Yale man stated.

On the other side, Dr. Sears said, was William Jennings Bryan defending the idea that evolution should not be taught because it was destructive of religious and spiritual values. A recent book, "Darwin's Century," was written by a former Nebraskan, Loren Elseley, now professor of anthropology at Pennsylvania, the speaker pointed out.

Saturday's events of homecoming include a business and civic panel in the morning, featuring James C. Donnell II, president of the Ohio Oil Co.; Senator Roman Hruska (R-Neb); Merle C. Jones, Beatrice businessman; and Joe R. Seacrest, associate editor of the Lincoln Journal.

Ike Relives Old Days In Tour Of Abilene Home

... Visits Prairie Town Of Boyhood

Abilene, Kan. (AP)—A happy President Eisenhower, back in this prairie town of his boyhood, ran his hand lovingly over the stairwell bannister at the old family homestead Friday and chuckled: "Brother, the times I've slid down that."

It was a time for reminiscing and the President did a lot of it in touring the white frame homestead, at 4th and Kuney Streets, and the Eisenhower museum next door.

This is Eisenhower's first overnight trip to Abilene since 1954. He relived the old days then and he did it all over again Friday.

The President and Mrs. Eisenhower got a rousing welcome. They arrived in the late afternoon after a 22-mile drive from Schilling Air Force Base at Salina, Kan. They landed there shortly after Eisenhower had made a campaign speech at the National Corn Picking Contest at Cedar Rapids, Iowa.

Politics Forgotten

In that speech the President soft-pedaled politics. In Abilene, for the moment, he forgot politics altogether.

His first stop was at the Eisenhower homestead, where he lived from the time he was a very small boy until he entered West Point in 1911.

Oldtimers who have known him for years and youngsters by the hundreds shouted greetings as the smiling President made his way through the crowd to the family home. "Hello, Charlie. . . Hi, Earl. . . Hello George," the President called.

With Mrs. Eisenhower at his side, the President toured the rooms, spotting the old upright piano, the magazines his father had in a rack at the time of his death in 1942, the family photographs.

"How does it look to you, Mr. President—pretty familiar?" someone asked.

'Rooms Shrink'

"Yes, indeed," he replied. "But what always amazes you is how when you come back each time how all the rooms shrink."

And then, in the old-fashioned atmosphere of another day, he remarked he also was amazed to find that the home has been air-conditioned. It has been open to the public since 1947.

He came across an oil portrait of himself in Army uniform and chuckled after staring at it a moment:

"I wonder where they got that picture. I can get Tommy Stephens (a New York artist) to paint a better one than that."

On leaving the homestead for the Eisenhower museum, the President got kissed soundly by a 1st cousin, Mrs. Florence Etherington of Abilene.

In the museum, built with voluntary contributions, gifts collected over the years, mementoes of his Army career, boyhood keepsakes—they kept the President and the first lady intrigued for the better part of an hour.

Stevens Jewelry Thief Gets 18 Months In Pen

Harold James Frost of 118 C was sentenced Friday in Lancaster District Court to an 18-month State Penitentiary term on a third offense petit larceny charge.

Frost, 42, had pleaded guilty before Judge Harry A. Spencer to the theft of merchandise from the Steven Credit Jewelers at 1340 O on Sept. 29. The complaint also alleged that he was convicted of second offense petit larceny in March, 1955.

Show Evidence

Paris (AP)—Premier de Gaulle is asking President Sekou Toure of Guinea to show evidence that his country can assume the obligations of future association with France. Guinea voted itself out of the French Union recently and asked for partnership by treaty.

Reds Deny Information On 11 Yanks

Moscow (AP)—The Soviet government insisted Friday that it has no information on the whereabouts of 11 U.S. airmen missing after a U.S. transport plane crash in Soviet Armenia Sept. 2.

Six men were known to have died in the crash and their bodies were returned by the Russians.

The Russians published their answer to recent U.S. demands for more information about the men a day after handing it to U.S. Ambassador Llewellyn Thompson.

The sharply worded note to Washington was couched with Soviet admonitions that the U.S. government should take strict measures against U.S. planes crossing Soviet borders. A similar Soviet note Thursday accused U.S. planes of flying illegally over Soviet territory in Bering Strait and the northern Pacific.

The new note said the U.S. government and "those who gave the order for the plane to violate Soviet air space" are to blame for the fate of the missing 11 crewmen.

Observers here said the tone of the note strengthened an unpleasant belief that "the United States may never hear anything more on the fate of the 11 missing men."

Husband Blamed In Triple Slaying

La Grande, Ore. (AP)—A triple slaying in a mountain cabin was blamed tentatively by state police on an estranged husband.

Police Sgt. J. D. Casciato said William T. Nickels, 53, a ranch hand, apparently killed himself after shooting his wife, Delores, 40, and her friend Miss Billie Johnson, 25.

"As near as we can determine right now it sounds like murder and suicide," the sergeant said after talking to Archie Conrad, 53, who was wounded as he tried to flee from the cabin at Minam, 40 miles northeast of La Grande, Thursday night.

"Nickels done all the shooting," Conrad told police from his hospital bed. A doctor said Conrad had been hit in the back by a bullet, which emerged from a fleshy part of the right arm. Conrad's condition was described as good.

2 Years In Pen Given For No-Account Check

John Podewitz Jr. of 1415 P was sentenced Friday in Lancaster District Court to a two-year State Penitentiary term on a no-account check charge.

Podewitz, 35, pleaded guilty before Judge Harry A. Spencer to issuing a $20 no-account check Aug. 22.

'Ak' King Lists Government Service Among Accomplishments

"A distinguished American."
That is the summation by the President of the United States, Dwight D. Eisenhower, of Isaac White Carpenter Jr., King Ak-Sar-Ben LXIV. This tribute is inscribed on an autographed picture of the President on the wall of Carpenter's office.

While the 65-year-old son of the late I. W. Carpenter terms the flourishing Carpenter Paper Co. he built as the "most satisfying part of my life," he points with pride to his recent service as Assistant Secretary of State with the State Department.

One of his duties as Assistant Secretary of State was to attend the daily staff meetings of Secretary of State Dulles.

No Proposals Yet On Time Sales Laws

More study will have to be given to time sales laws in other states before the Legislative Study Committee on Installment Credit Practices will determine what action in this field it will recommend to the next Legislature, Sen. Mervin Bedford, committee chairman, said Friday.

The committee met Friday at the State Capitol in executive session and was expected to determine its recommendation, but after a two-hour meeting it was announced there would have to be "at least one more" executive session.

Bedford said that he and Dr. Jack Rodgers, research director of the Legislative Council, will go to Chicago Nov. 4 and 5 to attend a meeting called by John Doyle, director of the division of consumer credit of the Wisconsin Department of Banking.

Officials from several states having time sales laws will meet in Chicago at that time to discuss some of the administrative problems in connection with credit laws.

Bedford said the committee will meet again shortly after the Chicago meeting with the hope that it can determine its final recommendation at that time.

The committee will make its final report to the Legislative Council when it meets in Lincoln Nov. 18-20.

Ben, Robert H. Storz, commented that "it was my good fortune to see first hand the fine work accomplished both overseas and in Washington by Carpenter and it certainly reflects great credit on Omaha by its native son as well as his fellow townsmen."

Carpenter's success as a builder is reflected in the growth of the Carpenter Paper Co., which is serving 23 states from its 37 plants or warehouse locations. More than 15,000 items are handled through these plants.

The new King entered the business in 1916, but left in 1917 to serve in the Army. He returned to the company in 1919 after being discharged from the Army as a Captain.

Husband, Wife 'Team'

Selection of Carpenter as King marks the 4th time in history that a husband and wife have ruled the Kingdom of Quivira as King and Queen. Carpenter's wife, the former Elizabeth Reed, was Queen of Ak-Sar-Ben in 1917 and 1918, ruling with King Willard D. Hosford.

Carpenter was graduated from Central High School. At Dartmouth College he received his degree in 1915. The following year he took graduate work at Harvard Business School.

Carpenter's list of civic and humanitarian accomplishments include:

- Service on the Initial Gifts Committee of the Community Chest Drive for many years.
- Ak-Sar-Ben as an outstanding Membership Drive worker and was chairman of the coronation floor committee for many years.
- Head of the United Givers Fund Campaign and the annual Red Cross Drive for the State Department while in Washington.
- Director of the Omaha Chamber of Commerce for several years in 1930s.
- Service as a Vestryman of Trinity Cathedral since 1924 and one of the leaders in the drive for the funds for the new $300,000 parish house.
- President of the Omaha Country Club in the 1940s and board of directors for six years.
- Senior member of the Omaha National Bank Board of Directors, since 1926, when he succeeded his father, who was a director for 14 years prior to that.
- Former director of Omar, Inc., for 4 years.
- Former director of the Omaha-Council Bluffs Street Railway Co. for 4 years.

The new King, who answers to the nickname of "Zeke," has one hobby, golf. He terms himself "mediocre," but his competitors will argue that description. At present he has a handicap of 9, which means that he shoots in the low 80s.

LINCOLN AK-SAR-BEN COUNTESSSES

Ak-Sar-Ben Queen Carol Ann Swanson Lead In Campus Affairs At Stanford

Blonde and vivacious Carol Ann Swanson is Queen Ak-Sar-Ben LXIV. The 21-year-old, 5-foot 8-inch beauty is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. Clarke Swanson.

A graduate of Omaha's Brownell Hall, where she was an honor student, president of the Student Council and 1955 May Queen Miss Swanson has attended Stanford University at Palo Alto, Calif., for 3 years, where she majored in art and political science.

Stanford Leader

Last year at Stanford the student body and faculty elected Miss Swanson to head the orientation and planning program for all freshmen women for the entire year. As such, she served as president of their dormitory and acted as head sponsor. In addition, she was one of 12 students appointed to President J. E. Wallace Sterling's Council on Academic Affairs.

The new Queen "loves to travel" and last year spent two weeks behind the Iron Curtain, where she visited Russia, Yugoslavia and Poland.

She attended an Embassy party in honor of Nikita

Khrushchev, who did not take "she met Georgi Zhukov and Georgi Malen' visited 14 other European countries on her tour.

Miss Swanson's favorite hobbies are swimming and reading "everything from Tolstoy to Mickey Spillane." She also classes herself as a "duffer" sailor, employing the golf expression, and is a water skier.

The Queen's father was president of C. A. Swanson and Sons in 1955 when the company merged with Campbell Soup. He served Camp-

Ancient Jars

Chiba, Japan (UPI)—Japanese archeologists said that 8 ancient earthen jars uncovered in a Chiba schoolyard might be the oldest in the world. Scholars of Tokyo and Meigi Universities said the jars might be more than 10,000 years old, or at least 3,000 years older than the Egyptian find considered to be the most ancient earthenware discovered so far. The scholars planned chemical tests to confirm their estimate.

bell as vice president and director for one year, and is now consultant and director for the organization.

He is chairman of the board of the Prairie Broadcasting Co. of Decatur, Ill.; a director of the Omaha National Bank; a regent at Creighton University; Director of the Electronic Engineering Co. of California; and on the board of the Thunderbird Country Club in Palm Springs, Calif.

He is well-known in Omaha for his participation in civic drives.

6 Shilling Raise

London (UPI)—The Most Rev. Dr. Geoffrey F. Fisher, Archbishop of Canterbury, announced a 6 shilling weekly salary increase for Britain's 12,000 Church of England vicars.

The Archbishop said the average salary of a vicar now was $2,007 a year, plus a rent-free house. He said the wage was not "satisfactory" when compared with the earnings of "other learned professions" but that the church commissioners could not authorize bigger increases now.

Maryland High Court Rules Out Advertising Tax

Annapolis, Md. (AP)—Maryland's highest court has ruled that Baltimore's controversial taxes on advertising are unconstitutional because they impede freedom of the press.

The Court of Appeals struck down two city ordinances. One imposed a 4% sales tax on the purchaser of newspaper, radio, television and billboard advertising, and the other levied a 2% gross receipts tax on the proceeds of such sales.

Sutton Defeats School Bonds

Lincoln Star Special
Sutton, Neb.—Sutton voters Friday soundly defeated a $811,000 school bond issue. The vote was 217 for and 793 against.

The proposal called for two new buildings to house the high school and elementary grades. This was the first vote on the plan.

Supt. Edwin Schaad said future plans regarding the proposal will be taken under advisement. Present school facilities have been termed crowded and inadequate by a firm making a special survey.

Retirement Study Moved To Oct. 27

The Legislative Study Committee on Retirement Systems has rescheduled its next meeting on Oct. 27, the Legislative Council office reported Friday.

The committee originally had planned to meet Oct. 23. It will hear a final report from Robert Larson, professor of actuarial science at the University of Nebraska.

The charges, seeking revocation of the masseur's license to practice massage, were filed by Attorney General C. S. Beck against James A. Cunningham of 4832 A.

Denver Girl Weds Robert Howey

For the wedding of Miss Mary McCoy, daughter of Mrs. Dudley Green of Denver, and the late Floyd W. McCoy, and Robert Sidles Howey, son of Mr. and Mrs. Walden H. Howey of Lincoln, which took place on Friday afternoon, Oct. 17, the altar and chancel of the Church of the Ascension in Denver were appointed with autumn blossoms in the ivory tone, and clusters of autumn foliage caught the ivory satin bows which marked the processional aisle on either side. The Rev. A. Balfour Peterson, chaplain at the University of Colorado, solemnized the 4:30 o'clock ceremony.

Satin, in the shade of burnished gold, was chosen for the alike costumes of the attendants including Mrs. L. G. Lefler of Webster Groves, Mo., who was her sister's matron of honor; and bridesmaids Mrs. Douglas Hord, sister of the bridegroom; Miss Ardash Daly, Miss Kyle Hicks, Miss Patricia Sawyer, and Mrs. Bruce Dixon. Beneath the fitted bodices, designed with portrait necklines and brief sleeves, the wide skirts flared to ballerina length and were ornamented with flat hem bows. Their miniature Dior pillbox hats of satin and velvet were framed with stand-out veils, and they carried feathered chrysanthemums in the bronze shade, with russet magnolia leaves.

Charles W. Battey, Jr., of Evanston, Ill., served Mr. Howey as best man, and seating the guests were Gerald Desmond, Jr., Bruce Bergquist, both of Lincoln; Douglas Hord, David Hender, Joseph Hutchinson and Charles Wright.

For the ceremony the bride chose a gown of pure silk satin. Appliques of imported Alencon lace, lightly frosted with seed pearls and moonstones, contoured the portrait neckline of the fitted bodice which was designed with bracelet-length sleeves. The bell skirt, accented with a back panel of the Alencon lace, extended into a chapel train, and her full length double-tiered veil was held to the head with a Renaissance circlet of pearls. She carried a bouquet of ivory orchids and stephanotis.

Upon their return from a west coast honeymoon trip Mr. Sidles and his bride will reside at 3136 Calvert St., in Lincoln.

The bride is a graduate of Bradford Junior College, Bradford, Mass., and of the University of Colorado where she is a member of Kappa Kappa Gamma sorority. Mr. Howey was graduated from the University of Nebraska where he is a member of Beta Theta Pi fraternity.

Knew What He Was Doing!

Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: This married woman across the street won't leave my husband alone. My husband put a new roof on our house and that nifty girl was up there on the roof with him every day for three days handing him the nails. The first day I never said a word, but the second day I told my husband to tell her to get off the roof and stay home because it looked terrible for the neighbors. He said she wasn't hurting anything and he didn't mind if she wanted to hand him the nails. They are the talk of the neighborhood and I am very mad at him for not telling her to stay home. Was my husband at fault or was she?

PLENTY MAD

DEAR PLENTY: It takes two to tango, and the roof is a pretty dangerous place to do it. Your husband should have told the woman to stay at home.

DEAR ABBY: Last Sunday at the beach my daughter came out of the water, changed clothes and wrung her bathing suit out on her father's back while he was sleeping. He grabbed her and turned her over his knee and gave her a spanking. Our daughter is seventeen and I think she is too grown up to be spanked in this fashion. I would appreciate your thinking on the subject.

MOTHER

DEAR MOTHER: A childish prank deserves a reprimand suitable for a child. (She's lucky he didn't wring her neck).

DEAR ABBY: You were so right when you told that woman not to worry because her husband never said, "I love you." Say it again, Sister! My husband used to wake me in the morning saying, "I love you." He'd call me ten times a day to tell me he loved me. At night he would say, "I love you, I love you, I love you!" Three months after our wedding I found out he was wanted in Texas, Arizona and Oklahoma by wives One, Two and Three for back alimony and non-support. He never mentioned he had been married before. So tell the lady who wants to hear, "I love you" to be satisfied with a quiet, honest man. BETRAYED

CONFIDENTIAL TO LUIS THE ARTIST: If she wants to pose for you for money, that's her BUSINESS. If she'll pose for you for nothing, that's HER business.

If you have a problem, write to Abigail Van Buren in care of this paper. She will be glad to answer your letter. For a personal reply, please enclose a stamped self-addressed envelope.

A Really Big Week End For The High School Crowd

Only two of Lincoln's high schools had home games last evening—Pius X, and Lincoln High. For Pius X it was an extra special evening due to the fact that it was Homecoming, and that the Football King and Queen were presented during the half-time activities. Following the game there was a Homecoming dance at the high school for the student body and alumni.

Although Lincoln High School had no added attractions during or after the game, there were some pre-game parties.

Miss Lona Lee Bell, for instance, was hostess to 20 members of the Peppers group at a 5 o'clock supper at her home preceding the game, but the moment the last crumb had been devoured the groups whisked off to the stadium.

Also entertaining before the Lincoln High-O-maha North game last evening were Miss Margaret Uri and Miss Donna Upton who were supper hostesses at the home

Pius X Peppers and Cheer Leaders joined forces to decorate the auditorium for the homecoming dance which followed Friday night's game with St. Bonaventure's of Columbus. Working with one

We Hear That

Mrs. W. A. Martin and her sons, Scott and Doug, will leave the first of the week to return home to Vallejo, Calif., after visiting in Lincoln the last two months as the guests of Mrs. Martin's parents, Mr. and Mrs. William Reckewey.

Meet Star Carrier Mike Schneider

For almost a year the Star customers of Michael Schnei-der have been receiving ex- cellent delivery service.

Mike, son of Mr. and Mrs. Matt Schnei-der of 4930 J, serves the area bound- ed by Ran- dolph on the north, F a l l Creek Rd. on the east, A Street on the south, a n d 48th Street on the west. Be- cause of his industrious na- ture and ambition, the route is one of the better managed routes in the city.

Mike attends St. Teresa where he is very interested in science and history. Little league baseball, his position as altar boy at St. Teresa's, and the Boy Scouts, are list- ed among his varied activi- ties. He is also very interested in science and spends part of his spare time conducting experiments with his chemis- try set. Last year Mike was honored when he received the Par-Duli-Dei award from the Boy Scouts.

From his profits of $28 a pe- riod, Mike saves $5 for a col- lege education and the re- mainder he uses to furnish his own personal and school expenses.

Mike believes the time that he spends on his route is ad- equately reflected in his stead- ily growing profits.

Sports Editor, The Star

Syracuse, N.Y. — Nebraska Cornhuskers, boasting a commendable 2-2 record, renew an intersectional rivalry with Syracuse University here Saturday afternoon and Bill Jennings' troops find themselves in a familiar role. The Cornhuskers are 3-touchdown underdogs for the second time this season against a team from the East. Jennings & Co., won't be the least bit unhappy if the second meeting with a favored Eastern foe turns out like the first one. In the season opener, the Huskers upset Penn State, 14-7, at Memorial Stadium. Game time for the 9th meeting between the Scarlets and the Orange is 11:30 a.m.,

Lincoln time, and a crowd of 20,000 is expected to see Syracuse improve its stature with a win over the thin and inexperienced Cornhuskers at Archibald Stadium. This the first of two tough road games for the Huskers, who must visit Colorado next week, and the chances of a second upset appear slim. Syracuse last week routed Cornell, 55-0, and has a potent offense, guided by two fine quarterbacks — Chuck Zimmerman and Dan Fogarty — and pepped by some good running backs. Nebraska, which will have all but end Bill Bonahan ready for battle although several of the key players still have not rounded into top shape after injuries or illnesses, hasn't been able to regain its peak form since tripping Penn State. The Huskers have yet to stage an impressive scoring punch in 4 games and the NU defense has leaked badly at times. Syracuse will have a commanding edge in both weight and experience. The Scarlets will be giving away an average of 13 pounds per man in the line and 10 pounds per man, teamwise. Nebraska will probably have to stop the passes of Zimmerman if the Huskers are to pull off another major upset. The veteran Orange quarterback has completed 13 of 26 passes for 184 yards in 3 games this fall — more than the Huskers' team passing total. The Syracuse running attack will be spearheaded by Art Baker (5.3 average), Tom Stephens (4.6) and Ger Schwedes (3.9). Nebraska will rely on its usual lineup of George Harshman at quarterback; Max Martz and Larry Naviaux at halfbacks; and Dick McCashland at fullback. But the Huskers will be hoping for some added help from soph Pat Fischer, who has been ailing since the Penn State game, and Clay White, another little soph who was a standout in the loss to K-State last week. The NU squad arrived here Friday afternoon, but did not work out. Jennings was not in a predicting mood, but he opined: "We're not as deep or as physically sound as we'd like to be, but we came to play and the kids are ready to go after them." Coach Ben Schwartzwalder of Syracuse said, "We know

Nebraska is a better team than the one we beat last year (26-9) by quite a bit and we are going to need a great effort to win. We're also worried because Nebraska uses the Single Wing as well as the Split T and our other opponents have used only the T. It means an added job for our defense." The Huskers will return to Lincoln immediately after the game, arriving about 7:30 p.m., via chartered airliner. Footnotes . . . ## Links Whitewash Favored North 33-0

LH Comeback Jars Omahans

By Al Beebe

Showing devastating ground power, just enough passing, and a rugged defense, Lincoln High ground out a surprising 33-0 triumph over injury-hampered Omaha North before some 3,500 Oval fans Friday night.

It was a surprising reversal for the Links, after a poor showing against Grand Island in their last outing two weeks ago. It also evened LHS' record against Omaha schools this year to 1-1, with two more to come. That's Omaha South next week here, and at Tech the following week.

North had been rated No. 5 in the state by The Star on a 3-2 record going into the game, while LHS was 2-2 and No. 7. But the Links ground out a first period touchdown, held on through a rocking second period, and then shelled North with 4 TD blows in the final half.

In partial justification of the ratings and North's pre-game favoritism, the Viking injury list was long. Biggest loss was power fullback Dick Farguson, who didn't even suit up. Without him, North couldn't gain through the center of the had to punt the second time and LHS started its first scoring drive from the 17. The march, with McWilliams and Grenemeier doing most of the work and Zollicoffer contributing an 11-yard gainer on the reverse, consumed the 83 yards in 13 bone-crushing plays.

Zuerlein made the counter from the 5, taking the ball from his T formation quarterback position, taking one step to the right, and slicing through guard to score untouched. Grenemeier plunged for the 7-0 point at 2:46 left in the quarter.

North started a drive then, moving to the Link's 25 before a fumble stopped that. LHS started to move again, with Zollicoffer getting loose for a 31-yard jaunt, but he fumbled at the end of it and North recovered.

The Links held for downs, started another drive, but failed at the Viking 36 when a 4th-down pass was dropped. Then North started its surge which included the 5-down sequence.

With first and 10 on the LHS 15, North failed on a pass, rushed to the 11, then failed on another pass. On that play, North was called for a penalty, but LHS declined. The down marker, however, was not advanced to 4th down. It stayed at 3rd.

That "4th" down resulted in a loss back to the 21, and, after some dispute, the "5th" down run was stopped at the 17.

The Links quickly turned the second half into a rout, with the scoring going like this:

Zuerlein used the same play as his first TD to score from 23 yards out, capping a 76 yard drive in 5 plays. A 29-yarder by Zollicoffer was the big gainer. Grenemeier plunged for the 14-0 point at 9:57.

McWilliams rolled out and passed to John Williamson in

Pius X Shuts Out Bonnies 'Bolts Stage Gala Night In 26-0 Win

By Bob McCoy

Efficient Pius X punched out 4 touchdowns like clockwork, crowned its homecoming royalty and stopped 4 Columbus St. Bonaventure drives deep in Thunderbolt territory to get back on the winning trail with a 26-0 victory Friday night.

Mixing a potent single wing ground attack with the aerials of Bill Neal, the Thunderbolts rolled up a 20-0 halftime margin and won handily.

Pius went 63 yards for its initial marker, which came on a 17-yard reverse by John Bohaty. Bohaty gained 37 yards on the march, which took just 11 plays. Neal's PAT run made it 7-0 and gave the Thunderbolts all the points they needed with the game just 8 minutes old.

Pius' wide halftime margin was manufactured in the final 3 minutes of the first half, with Neal passes instrumental in both tallies.

A 44-yard aerial from Neal to Bohaty ended a 71-yard march in 6 plays and gave the Thunderbolts a 14-0 lead with 2:16 left in the half.

Then St. Bonaventure fumbled on its own 19 on the second play after the kickoff and Pius' Dick Wagner recovered with only 40 seconds left in the half.

Two Neal passes put the ball on the one and the Thunderbolt fullback went over on the next play to run the margin to 20-0, giving Pius a sizeable lead.

A bad pass from center on St. Bonaventure's first series of downs after halftime gave the 'Bolts the ball on the Columbus 33 and set up the game's final touchdown.

Neal carried for 19 yards to the 14 and then Mike Anderson slipped through the center for the TD to end the scoring for the night.

St. Bonaventure, which out-gained Pius on the ground 187 yards to 189, got close to pay dirt 4 times but lost the ball on 4th down each time.

Fairbury—Visiting Lincoln Northeast was handed a 20-0 shut out here Friday night by the Fairbury Jeffs.

The Rockets never seriously threatened to score, and could manage only 4 first downs in the game—all in the first half.

Alvin Mapel scored twice—the first and the last touchdowns—to lead the victors' offense. He swept around end for a 27-yard tally in the second quarter and plunged from the one in the 4th period.

Leslie Blobaum leaped over from the two-yard line for the other Fairbury touchdown.

Northeast's best opportunity to score was in the 2nd period when Ken Dochow re-

A Northeast fumble set up the 2nd Fairbury touchdown. Northeast held on downs on their own 12 but fumbled on the 15 and the Jeffs drove over for the touchdown.

Jim Grabowski and Curt Kiner led the Rocket backfield and Larry Sipp was outstanding in the line.

Mapel and Gary Thompson were the sparklers in the Jeff backfield while guard Al Rada led the winner's line play.

plunged over from the one-yard line. Clare set up the touchdown when he sprinted 61 yards on a snappy pitchout play from quarterback Ron Meade of Canby, Minn.

Meade booted the extra point—he made all 3 PATs—to give NU a 7-0 lead, with 8:29 left in the 2nd quarter.

On the next play Iowa State scored when Joe Burde, 167-pound speedster, took the NU kickoff and returned it 88 yards for a touchdown to narrow the gap to 7-6.

A pass play for the extra point failed and Nebraska stayed in the lead.

Meade picked off an Iowa State aerial on the NU 29 with 30 seconds left in the half and returned it to the Cyclones' 33.

NU quarterback Joe Rutigliano of Brooklyn spotted a Hugh Smith in the end zone and hit him with a perfect pass but the play was called back when the Huskers were in motion.

After the halftime break Smith returned an Iowa State punt from the 20 to the 50 where he fumbled with a clear field ahead and Iowa State's Ed Mead recovered.

Nine plays later Paul Sullivan passed to Dave Mongeau for a 9-yard touchdown which put the Cyclones ahead 12-7.

Burde's run for the extra point was good and the two-point conversion made it 14-7.

The Huskers gambled and it paid off after the Iowa State kickoff. Driving to the NU 49, Nebraska was faced with a 4th down and 2 yards to go situation.

Hugh Smith went back to punt—but took the ball on the run and headed down the sidelines for a 51-yard touchdown.

Meade's kick knotted the score and Roberts' touchdown salted the victory away.

Beatrice — With fullback Dick Young pounding through the line and Dick Harr scoring the winning touchdown, Lincoln Southeast scored a mild, 13-6 upset of Beatrice here Friday night.

Southeast collected its second win of the season and as many in two weeks. The Knights completely dominated the game, although trailing until the first play of the final period.

With big Bob Lockwood, out with encephalitis early in the year but rolling now, a demon on both offense and defense, Beatrice scored midway in the second period. Lockwood plunged over from the one for the tally.

But the Knights kept the pressure on, shoving Beatrice deep into its own territory late in the quarter, where a short punt gave SE the ball on the Orange 25.

Young pounded across from the 6 on the first play of the final period, but the extra (See Page 14) set up the last TD when he returned an Iowa State punt to the IS 23. Quarterback Meade faked beautifully before pitching to Clare who was knocked down on the 7-yard line after a 16-yard gain.

The Iowa State line held for 3 plays before Roberts crashed over the middle.
Earlier in the 4th period Nebraska drove to the Iowa State 3 and had 4 downs to score but a great Iowa State defense held and the Cyclones took the ball on their own 1/2 yard line.
The Huskers' other touchdown that was called back came with only minutes left in the game. Clare took a pitchout and swept around the end for a 12-yard tally—but an offside penalty nullified the score.
Clare and Meade highlighted the Nebraska backfield. Meade intercepted two Iowa State passes and Clare another.
Meade worked the pitchout excellently from his quarterback spot. Clare's running was outstanding as was that of Conrad Leifur of Bismarck, N.D.
Noel Martin of Clay Center, Kan., led the Husker defense tackling well from his safety position.
Outstanding in the line for the young Huskers were tackles Monte Kiffin of Lexington and Roger Cole of Granite Falls, Minn., and end Jim Hoge of Holdrege.

Jon Skaug of Kansas City, called on at the last minute for starting duties at center, also drew praise for his play.
Dick McDaniel, NU end from Port Arthur, Tex., broke his collarbone on the first play of the game.
Two Omahans were on the Iowa State starting lineup. They are tackle Howard Waterman of Omaha North and fullback Jim Watsbaugh of Creighton Prep.

CONLEY'S CAGE PLANS NIXED

Milwaukee (P)—Pitcher Gene Conley's plans to play professional basketball during the off season were jolted Friday by General Manager John Quinn of the Milwaukee Braves who said the club would not permit it.

"He hasn't asked permission," Quinn said, "and I would not give him permission if he asked."

Conley left Milwaukee Monday to try out with the Boston Celtics of the National Basketball Assn. Quinn said this was contrary to the Braves' wishes, and in violation of the standard player contract which forbids participation in any other sport.

"I don't believe baseball and basketball mix," said Quinn. "I don't like to see players in whom we have investments take part in anything where there is risk of injury. He might throw his arm out, or break a leg, or anything."

At Pittsfield, Mass., where the Celtics played an exhibition game, Conley said that he didn't anticipate any difficulty with the front office. He said he agreed with Quinn that baseball and basketball do not mix but added "I just want to play basketball this winter. Considering how little I pitched this summer I think it's the best thing for me. Anyway, I haven't even made the Celtics yet."

The 6 foot 8 inch right-hander will be 28 years old Nov. 10. He played 39 games with the Celtics in the 1952-53 season. He quit the following fall.

NU Alums Gather At Syracuse

By Don Bryant

Syracuse, N. Y.—University of Nebraska alumni in the Syracuse area joined with fellow Cornhuskers from Nebraska Friday evening at the Hotel Onondaga for a social evening and rally.

Some 100 NU alums heard coach Bill Jennings say "We are making progress at Nebraska. While it is not being made rapidly or overnight, it is being made and in the right direction—both academically and football-wise."

Chairman of the Syracuse group was Paul L. Christensen and others on the Friday night committee were John W. Becker, assistant chairman; Norris Schick, program chairman and Mrs. Betty Edland, in charge of the reception committee.

Mr. and Mrs. H. B. Prescott were the oldest Cornhuskers present. They have been in Syracuse 42 years and moved away from Lincoln 48 years ago. Mrs. Prescott—who is the sister of Lincoln attorney John Comstock's mother—is a member of the 1897 NU class and Mr. Prescott is a 1905 grad.

Others from Syracuse at the gathering were Mr. and Mrs. Richard Doisy, Elizabeth Leonard, Mr. and Mrs. Keith Fitch—Mrs. Fitch is the former Marilyn Harm of Lincoln, Mr. and Mrs. Jack Manion, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Bergstraesser and Ronald Rader.

Current Nebraskans on hand included Mr. and Mrs. Fred Patz and Miss Donna Lynch of Lincoln; Mr. and Mrs. Ward King, Mr. and Mrs. Sutton Hice, Mr. and Mrs. Hollis Miller and Dr. and Mrs. C. H. Bruch of York; Mrs. H. T. Jones and Mrs. P. H. Wake of Seward and John Brunkhorst of Columbus.

The Nebraskans were part of a tour which took them from Lincoln to Niagara Falls and then to Syracuse for the game. They will continue on to New York City.

NU athletic director Bill Orwig also addressed the group and told them that the Huskers would do everything in their power to beat Syracuse today.

Holdrege Thumps Lex, 27-21

Holdrege—Holdrege rallied in the final two periods to keep its perfect record unblemished Friday night as the Dusters defeated Lexington, 27-21. The Dusters now have a 6 straight win record.

The Minutemen started the evening off with two quick first period tallies. The first Lex touchdown was set up by a Holdrege bobble on the Duster 18 yard line.

Holdrege rallied in the second canto when Spencer Puls hit Tom Carlson on an 18 yard pass play. The Minutemen bounced back seconds later as Steve Pfister sprinted 40 yards for the last Lexington tally.

In the third period Puls climaxed a touchdown campaign on a two yard plunge. However, it was Win Peterson that made the difference in the game. Peterson scored both of the Duster's last two touchdowns, one of which was a 60 yard run.

the end zone from the 18, climaxing a 58 yard drive in 7 plays. Grenemeier plunged again for 21-0 at 2:00 left in the 3rd.

LHS scored the 3rd consecutive time it had the ball, the TD coming with 10:03 to go in the game and Zollicoffer doing the honors on a 26-yard reverse. This drive went 63 yards in 3 plays, with the aid of a 15-yard roughness penalty when North captain and center Mike Convey was booted from the game.

The Links got the ball for the 4th and last time in the second half, and the reserves came through with a 65 yard drive in 10 plays, again with the aid of a 15-yard penalty. Howard Strain showed he can run the reverse, too, going the last 7 yards with 1:58 left.

A 15-yard penalty on the kickoff, when the Links' Don Tuttle was booted from the contest, gave North the ball on the LHS 49. The Vikings moved to the 8, and a penalty shoved the ball to the one with but two seconds left.

But the reserve line shoved Morgan back on his try for the TD, and North wasn't able to salvage that much. And that's the way it went. It was the Links from start to finish.

Columbus Rout Fremont By 41-0

Lincoln Star Special

Columbus—Taking a big step toward a spot in the Big 10 Conference playoff, Columbus turned what was touted to be a close battle into a 41-0 rout of injury-riddled Fremont here Friday night.

The win gave Columbus a 2-0-1 record in the East Big 10, with only Norfolk standing in the way next week of a playoff trip. Grand Island can tie the Columbus mark, but the Discoverers would get the playoff berth since Grand Island played last year.

Columbus scored twice in the first two periods for a 27-0 lead and coasted in the second half. Tom Ernst was the big gun, scoring 3 times on short runs and tossing a 41 yard scoring pass to Loren Henggeler.

Dick Goc also swept for two Columbus scores, and Ernst booted 5 placements.

Columbus: TD, Ernst 3 (2, 9, 1 runs); Goc 2 (6, 26 runs); Hengeler (41 pass from Ernst); PAT, Ernst 5.

3 State Cities To Get Airport Aid

Airport construction and improvement projects in 3 Nebraska communities were given a boost Friday by the State Aeronautics Commission, which allocated a total of $147,500 in federal and state matching funds for these projects.

The towns are O'Neill, Burwell and Ainsworth.

The Commission also disclosed it was investigating possibilities of having the city of O'Neill certified as a local service stop on the northern Nebraska route of Frontier Airlines.

A Burwell delegation, led by Orville Norland, chairman of the city's recently created airport authority, won a total of $36,000 from the Commission toward construction of a new airport costing an estimated $48,000.

2-1 Federal

Of the total funds granted, $12,000 will be in state aid and $24,000 in federal aid. The granting of the funds, however, was contingent on the airport authority getting zoning established in the vicinity of the proposed airport.

The delegation also told the Commission it was interested in being certified as a Frontier stop. However, it said such a stop would have to be on a new route, perhaps connecting Grand Island with Burwell, Valentine and Rapid City.

The Commission told the O'Neill contingent, led by Mayor D.C. Schaffer, it would get a total of $110,000 in state and federal money toward a $150,000 airport improvement project if the city wins certification for local air service from Frontier over its northern route.

However, if the city fails to get certification, it will receive $40,000 in federal money and $20,000 in state funds toward an $80,000 airport improvement project.

The O'Neill authority desires to hard surface a north-west-southeast runway. The airport already has a new administration building and a new omni visual range finding device.

The $110,000 the city would receive should it win certification for commercial service, would be composed of $35,000 in state funds and $75,000 in federal funds.

American Motors OKs Pact

Detroit (AP) — American Motors Corp. and the United Auto Workers Union Friday agreed on a new 3-year labor contract.

It paralleled roughly agreements reached previously with General Motors, Ford and Chrysler. These carry a wage increase estimated to total 24 to 30 cents hourly over the 3-year span.

Friday's settlement came approximately 7 hours after AMC's 13,000 plus production workers left the job in Michigan and Wisconsin.

The contract climaxed negotiations which began at 9:30 a.m. Thursday and went to 5:05 p.m. Friday except for occasional and usually brief recesses and caucuses.

Both the union and management said they expected all AMC workers to be back on the job Monday. All local level disputes except one involving only 26 employees in Detroit were settled before the overall contract was taken up.

The new contract is retroactive to July 1.

At American Motors' Kelvinator division in Grand Rapids, where employees already have agreed on a wage freeze in a new contract running to June 15, 1960, the new overall contract will become effective in its 3rd year.

Edward Cushman, AMC vice president and Tony Conole, assistant UAW chief for American Motors, said the new contract would "take over at Grand Rapids in its 3rd year."

Cushman said the AMC-UAW pact follows that the Big 3 down the line, including wage increases and increased pension benefits. The union disputed this.

Decker Puts Off Meeting On Aid Bill

The State Board of Education postponed its Oct. 21 meeting until Dec. 2, unless a special meeting is called before that date, State Commissioner of Education Freeman Decker said.

The prime topic scheduled for next Tuesday's meeting was the recently passed National Defense Education Act and the probable vote by the Board on whether or not Nebraska would participate in the program.

Decker said the State Education Department is still awaiting clarification on many parts of the new act before it can propose a state plan for the Board's consideration.

"Since this information is not yet available, and because the other matters to be considered by the Board are strictly routine, it seemed advisable not to call the Board in for the October meeting," Decker said.

If it should be possible to write a preliminary state plan prior to the December meeting, he said, a special session of the Board will be called.
